The time my mom lost her wedding ring

I was at the park with my friend. We were playing in the sand. And my mom was just taking her glove off, when suddenly she screamed her wedding ring was off her hand! She said it must be in the sand. Me and my friend started digging. But we couldn't find it, and then my mom said that we should leave the park because it was making her sad. So we went home, and then my dad bought my mom a new one.

The time I went Kayaking

It was a warm summer day, and I was about to begin kayaking. When me and my dad were in the kayak he said I could swim. I wanted to swim but then I didn't. Finally my dad pushed me in. The water was so cold. Suddenly I felt something smooth. I screamed, my dad put me in the back in the kayak, then we paddled as fast as we could. Until we reached safe and sound sand!

The End

The time I fell off the monkey bars

It was a sunny afternoon and I was about to go on the monkey bars when suddenly I got an idea, I would try to hang upside down on the bars. When it was my turn, I swunged to a perfect spot and then put my legs threw the bar right across me. As soon as I let go of the bar I felt myself falling. Suddenly my mom saw me falling, and threw what she had in her hands, and my mom tried to catch me but she failed, and thats when I learned never to try that again.

The time me and my sister got tumbled by a big Wave

I was at the beach just about to surf on a big wave with my sister, when suddenly I got a funny feeling! "What is it?" I thought. "Julia (my sister) may be a little too heavy for me?" I shook my head what was I thinking, I was 3 years older than her, she wouldn't fall off. As my dad was putting Julia on my back, I couldn't get that funny feeling out of my head. Suddenly I really wanted to get off the buggyboard but it was too late. As the big wave crashed down on the board, <sup>I thought</sup> for the first time that I was very heavy. Suddenly me and my sister slipped off. Julia started screaming and then ~~she~~ disappeared. I dived down to get her but then the wave was so big I almost couldn't swim, all of the sudden I felt something smooth. I almost fainted. But then I remembered it could be a dolphin so I held on to it. But the wave wasn't down yet, I started tumbling to the sand and the sand was scratching against me, and sand was in my mouth.

The time I got scared half to Death by a mysteriest bug

I was in south Carolina, my mother was just tucking me in, when I felt like not sleepy at all. So as my mother was leaving my room I looked out the window. The stars and the moon were hidden by the clouds, but I had a feeling they were peeking out of the clouds, and looking down on me. As I was lying in bed, I started to feel very sleepy, my eyes were starting to close, I fell asleep. But I didn't sleep long, because after I slept about 2 hours I awoke with a start! Now I felt really tired, and I felt like I had a fever. Then I decided to go to my moms room. As I opened the door I found a big, big black spot in the middle of the walk way, and I knew it was a big, big, big, cockroach! As I stared at the bug I started to scream. My mom came running toward me, and suddenly the light came on, and when I looked at the ground I knew it was just a black spot! I started to feel myself turn red. My mom walked away and I sighed and went back to bed.
